- Gabapentin 600mg for seizure control
- Buspirone 30mg for anxiety

9/17/14

Had first seizure in two years. Found on bathroom floor, took him to ER. Took about 3 hours to come around after 5 minute seizure. [REDACTED] advised to start on Keppra (anti-epileptic) 500mg BID. C/O Keppra making him tired. C/O itchy rash and jaw pain.

10/1/14

Has to be seizure free for six months before he can drive (clearance from neurology). Seppra makes him tired. Wants to go back to Ritalin for ADD and treat with THC for seizures because of no side effects. Needs to contact DSHS for voc rehab.

5/28/15

PT request for SSI stating he was seen after seizure in September. [REDACTED] is seeing a neurologist and is taking Zonisamide 100, Gabapentin 400 TID and Sertraline 100. Sees dark shadow in periphery LT eye; decreased hearing and chronic neck/back pain. No seizure since December.

6/8/15

Side effects from meds. Defect result from back xray. Same complaints from 5/28/15, shadows in eye. [REDACTED]: Severe TMJ instability (jaw).

7/1/15

Mood disorder, epilepsy, back pain.

8/10/15 – [REDACTED] Nooksack Physician

PT lost control of car yesterday morning due to “blacking out” and driving into the woods. No other vehicles were involved or Police or EMS. He was able to self-extricate and contact his fiancé who helped him move his car. She was worried PT had a seizure. Pt denies use of illicit drugs or alcohol. Says he stopped Gabapentin x five days due to over sedation and “personality changes,” cannot remember specifically what changes. “Can’t remember, but I’m not myself.” Feels confused, slow, fatigued. Has not been sleeping well, mood is irritable. Sees a counselor regularly.

9/1/15 – [REDACTED], Nooksack Health Clinic

Been taking medications for about a month. Supposed to be on gabapentin still but doesn’t like it. Has stopped taking Zonisamid and Zoloft because he doesn’t like the way he feels while on those meds. Makes him tired but can’t sleep at night. Neurologist started on lamotrigine but pt stopped because he was told he would break out in hives or shingles. Has difficult time concentrating and does not want to be there. Has a desire to work but can't because of seizures, anxiety, and depression.

Notes about family history. Does not want to be taking pills anymore as "they mess me up." Side effect: nausea. Has nobody to talk to and is angry at his mother for being homeless and other issues. C/O mood swings, irritability, depression, anxiety.

Occasional alcohol use, previous tobacco use, current marijuana use. Denies suicidal ideations or plan, wishes he "weren't alive." Discussed trying a single dose medication, lamictal, it will take time for them to be effective and side effects are normal. Counseling sessions, let go of anger about past and focus on the present. Promethazine for nausea and Buspar for anxiety.

Keeps starting and stopping meds. Has been working filleting fish. Anxiety, not sleeping well. New diagnoses: Acute-on-chronic vesicular eczema of hands, abnormal vision, hearing difficulty, chronic back pain, temporomandibular subluxation, lumbar spondylosis, mood disorder, acute confusion, anxiety disorder, depressive disorder, tinea pedis, carpal tunnel syndrome, joint-pain-dysfunction syndrome, fatigue.

12/10/15

Has disability attorney. No longer working,
